Veteran and up-and-coming knitwear designers are featured in this collection, including Carol Sulcoski (author of Sock Yarn Studio and Lace Yarn Studio, both from Lark Crafts), Andi Smith (author of Big Foot Knits) Yelena M. Dasher (published in Knit Simple magazine), and Claire Cromwell (published in Vogue Knitting).

I love the projects in this book. I love the patterns. I love the color choices. This is a book that uses small amounts of yarn of different colors to make completed projects. I like small projects which can be completed quickly and which use up small bits of yarn. This book is filled with that sort of thing. I think these projects are probably too challenging for a beginner but if you're an experienced knitter this would be a great book to add to your collection. I bought this book for a gift but I may have to buy a copy for myself!

Well I am biased since I love color work. However, I found many patterns I would love to make, so it was too sad to give it to my daughter and not keep it for myself. Hmmm I may need my own copy!

This book has a range of patterns to use up those ends of yarn from other projects or to knit up your new mini skeins. The projects are mostly smaller items which I like since they seem very achievable in a reasonable time frame. Good pictures and directions with the right level of detail.

Nice to browse through. Cover items are the most interesting, there are a lot of stripe projects.

good ideas for projects using left over stash skeins !

While I have not knit any of the patterns, yet, I love the use of color and the instructions are good. Have gifts planned for the holidays so better get busy. Recommended this to a friend who also has lots of odds and ends of stash yarns.

Good stash buster

Got as a gift. Friend loves it.
